THE 1950
CLAVUS

An aerial photograph of Allendale High School, a large, light-colored building with a dark roof and many windows. The school is surrounded by trees and a grassy area. In the foreground, there is a parking lot with several cars parked in rows. The overall scene is captured from a high angle, showing the layout of the school and its immediate surroundings.

FOREWORD

This year, the members of the Senior Class of Allendale present a style of yearbook that is quite different from its predecessors, and which we hope will be an enjoyable and vivid record of our class and school in the year 1949-1950.

Dedication

CAPTAIN HARDWIN DE R. WERTH left Allendale for the last time Friday, May 5, 1950. He left, as was his custom, bidding everyone a smiling farewell. He died that evening.

The Captain, as he was known to us, was one of the finest men we will ever be privileged to know. He was the most polished gentlemen imaginable. His sincerity helped many boys through difficult times. He was always ready and more than willing to help us. The boys and teaching were, perhaps, his greatest love and he never let them down. During his last few days at school, he was plagued with the fear of imminent blindness. He didn't know what would happen if he couldn't read to his boys. He never mentioned his illness, however, which was characteristic of him. His boys came first.

Captain Werth was in the school's service longer than any present teacher. He served faithfully for fifteen years. His death was in keeping with the overly active life that he led. No illness was strong enough to keep him down. He died, as was befitting him, "with his boots on". We will all miss him deeply.

The Senior Class of 1950 feels honored to dedicate this, our yearbook, to the memory of this great and respected gentleman.

FACULTY

HEADMASTER

Mr. Schwartz came to Allendale in 1948 after graduating from Princeton in 1936, and serving as assistant headmaster at the Hun School in Princeton, N. J. In the two years that he has been at Allendale, he has won the friendship and admiration of the parents, faculty, and students, and he has stimulated among the student body a sense of responsibility and duty to the school. In addition to his duties as Headmaster, Mr. Schwartz teaches Sixth Form English Composition. In his spare time, he takes delight in smoking one of his collection of pipes, hunting, and playing with his dogs, "Bar" and "Tania".

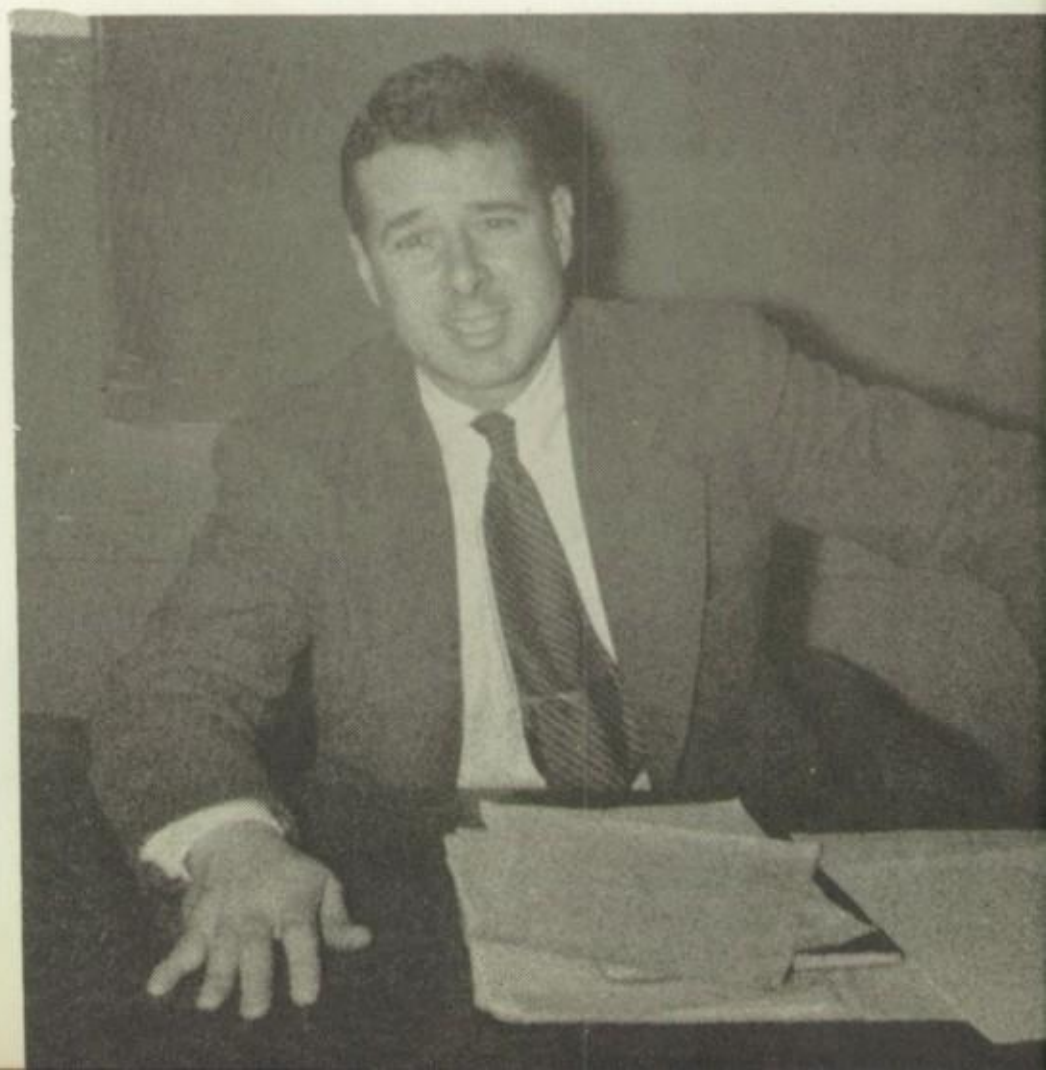

Peter A. Schwartz

ASS'T HEADMASTER

Mr. Smith came to Allendale in 1941 from St. Peter's School in Peekskill, New York. He is a member of the class of 1934 of Hamilton College, where he received his A.B. Besides teaching Latin and Public Speaking, Mr. Smith coaches varsity football and baseball. In the wintertime, he usually leads the ski squad on their "hickories," although this year, with its lack of good skiing weather, has made it impossible for him to go out on the slopes more than a few times. Mr. Smith is also an avid gardener, and enjoys such outdoor sports as fishing, tennis, golf and swimming.

After a year and a half away from Allendale, Bob returned in his Senior year, much to everyone's delight. His quiet, unassuming, yet forceful personality has been felt in all the school activities in which he has participated. Socially, Bob is usually quiet, but, on occasions, he is the life of the party. Bob, an authority on jazz, enjoys collecting records. His subtle sense of humor and cheerful disposition will ever insure his popularity.

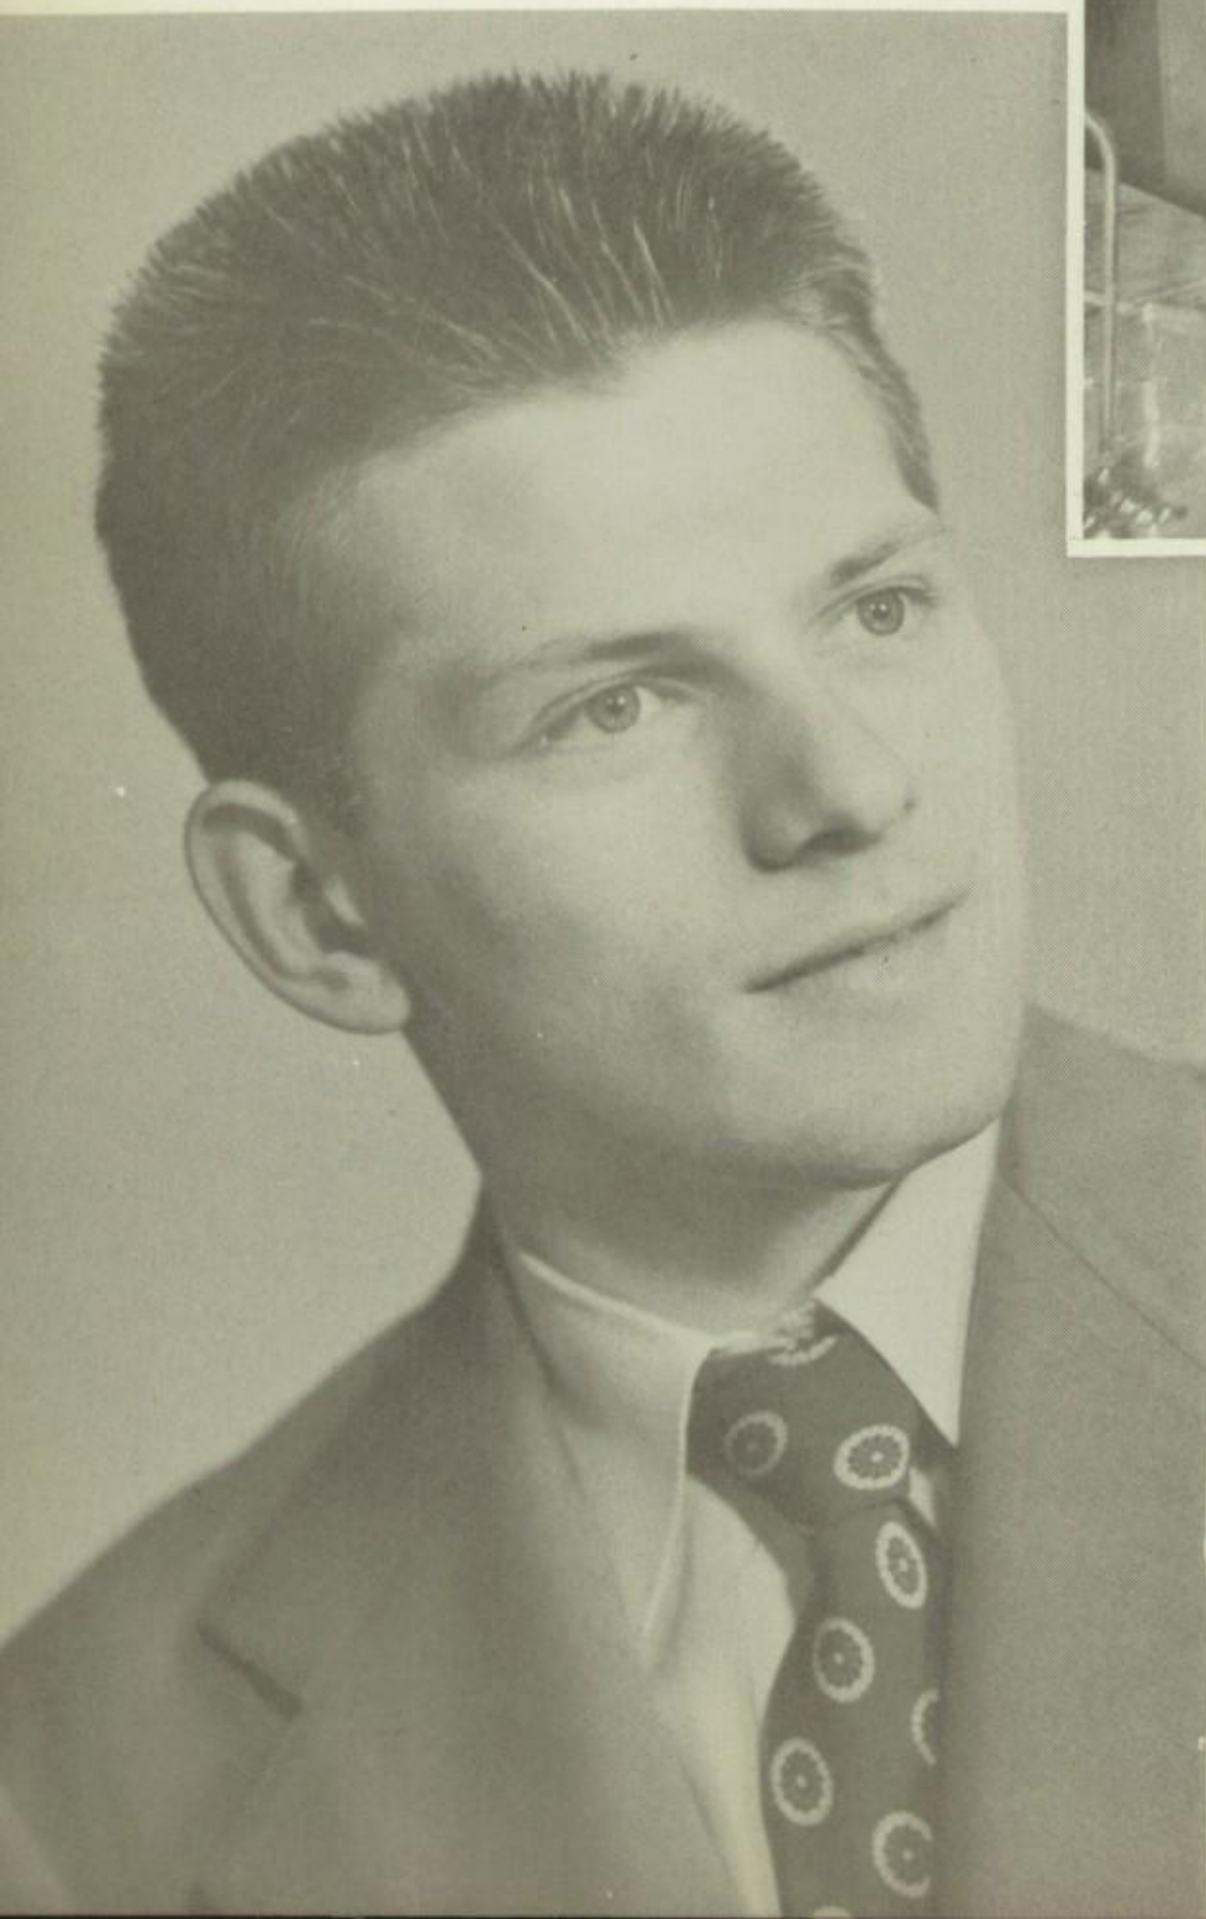

A dynamo of energy—that phrase best describes Bob whose four years at Allendale have sparkled with his various undertakings; athletic, scholastic, artistic, and amorous. In each one he has attained the highest degree of success. When the rigorous clamor of the school is discarded, one is likely to find Bob involved in various occupations ranging from enthusiastically livening up parties, golfing, sailing, cartooning, to cavorting in the wild woods of Canada. Bob's plans for the future lean towards medicine, a career for which he should be well suited.

Where ever hysterical mirth is to be heard, a glance in that direction usually reveals a highly entertained group with Ted as its nucleus. The heavy traffic at his Dartmouth St. residence typifies his exceedingly likable character. A very profitable trait of Teddy's, profitable to the rest of the senior class, is his amazing knowledge of the untapped resources of the feminine world. A gun collector, a thrifty businessman, and an appreciator of hillbilly music reveal a few of the sidelights of Ted's illustrious and active life. We are sure Ted will do well.

George moved into the Allendale scene at the beginning of his freshman year and in his own inimitable way has always been instrumental in the progress of his class. In spite of George's country influences, he always maintains a debanoir attitude when he adopts an urban environment. It is rumored George is a huntsman extraordinaire and his anecdotal activities are the bane of the faculty's existence. George's future plans are all cut out for him, for graduation from college he will go into the family business.

The sole misogynist in the class of 1950, Bill seems to sacrifice his social life in favor of more practical occupations, a trait which many members of this class admire. Bill's nature is cheerful, boisterous, and for the most part optimistic. In his financial endeavors, he leaves the school publications on a paying basis. The only true love of his life, the "Blue Cow", may have influenced him to choose engineering as his vocation. It will be quiet around Allendale next year. He will be missed.

Many outstanding qualities are combined in Joe. He is the personification of patience and perseverance, as well as being blessed with an infectious smile. He is never seen without camera, skis, typewriter, or jeep. (latter is usually observed headed toward printers or Pittsford). He manages to preserve honor standing even though he is constantly called upon to volunteer his technical services in and around Allendale, Cornell and electronics are Joe's next move.

Leroy's gift to Rochester arrived at Allendale five years ago and has consistently maintained a position of leadership in all fields of endeavor. The captainship of the Mowhawk team for four years in a row perfectly exemplifies this strong characteristic of John Nichols. An intellectual mind combined with a disarming and appealing personality makes John regarded highly by all who know him. His romantic escapades are numerous, diversified, and occasionally publicized. John is already planning continued success in this field in the future at Amherst. His winning personality and determined character assures him of a prosperous life.

A New Orleans jazz connoisseur, a play-boy of considerable note, a young man with Thespian tendencies, a devotee of T. S. Elliot, and notorious guitar player are descriptive of one Craig Perkins. Such varied talents compose an interesting and unusual personality. His ready wit and glib tongue has kept the senior dining-room in a state of constant amusement. In his one year at Allendale, he has made his mark in dramatics and publications. Next year Brown should regard him as a welcome addition.

Gordon compensates his lack of height by his fighting spirit and unceasing vitality. Seemingly without a care in the world, he brightens the spirits of all connected with him. Smitty's fortes are scouting, basketball, and baseball, activities which he enjoys tremendously. When it comes to social matters, Smitty suddenly becomes silent, and the details of his adventures are left to the imagination. Seriously, Gordon is capable and popular and as such should do well for himself.

Despite a compound fracture of the leg suffered in a football fracas this fall, Jim has continued to give active assistance to the teams and the school. This assistance has been in the form of using his thorough knowledge of sports to aid the coaches, and also in the form of moral support to all the teams. His exceptional achievements in skeet shooting are almost unknown to the majority of the school due to Jim's unusual modesty. Jim's sights are set on pre-med, at Pennsylvania, and we are confident that he will hit the target.

Bob has spent only a half year at Allendale but in that he has compiled a splendid record. He took school work and athletics in his stride, or rather sandwiched them in with copious other activities, not excluding nocturnal ones. Bob appreciates a good, substantial high school education more than any of us in that he has spent a semester at the U. of R. and over a year in business. He has a winning way which can only lead him to the road to success.

LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT

We, the incorporate and collective body, the Senior Class of the Allendale School, Town of Pittsford, County of Monroe, State of New York in the year 1950, being of sound mind and capable intellect, do hereby publish and declare this to be our last will and testament.

We leave to the school as a whole, best wishes for continued prosperity, and to the Junior Class, the Physics Wagon with its spare tire.

BOB—Leaves his Christmas vacations to George Kavanagh, and his Monroe girl friends to Creeper.

GOODY—leaves his hot hand to George Nichols, and his Chevvy to Jim Kerr to out race his hopped-up friends.

TED—leaves his book of telephone numbers to Alfred and his mania for guns to Don Webster.

GEORGE—leaves his Toni Home Wave set to Ed Dorsey, and a good gag to Mr. Wynkoop.

BILL—leaves the Blue Cow to Mrs. Likly and his super-duper reinforced desk to Robin Barrett.

JOE—leaves his streamlined, sleek, custom-built dependable(?) Jeep to Jonny, but takes a certain Pittsford address with him.

JOHN—leaves a jar of mayonnaise to anyone who can stand it, and an ever ready argument to Mr. Mulford.

CRAIG—leaves his accent to anyone who can understand it, and his knowledge of auto mechanics to Mr. Bell.

SMITTY—leaves a pair of suspenders to Mr. Holbrook, and a firecracker to place under a lethargic Hartmann.

BLACKIE—leaves his Scouting ability to Colie Killip, and merely leaves Physics Class.

JIM—leaves his bow tie to the lunchtime needy and his crutches to next year's football team.

CLASS OF 1951

Geniuses at Work

This class, being as large as it is, has been called 'uncooperative' from all sides. This is due, perhaps, to the size of the class and the ability of a few to lead and many to follow, plus a few intractable individuals. Looking at this class from an unbiased viewpoint, one may see them quite differently. They have potentialities that have been unobserved. Most of them have already proven themselves on the athletic field. A few of them have distinguished themselves along scholarly lines. Their representatives have shown very good judgement and leadership capabilities on the student council. On the Crow's Nest, many of them have contributed regularly. This class has been exceedingly introvertish. We believe it is this trait that will make them excel next year, for as a class they are hard to beat.

CLASS OF 1952

The members of this class have many and varied capabilities. This industrious group of boys has learned in the past year to shoulder responsibility and assume their place of leadership in the school. Conscientious as they may be, they yet find time to thoroughly enjoy themselves. Some have already proven their mettle either scholastically or athletically. Their wide range of interests, from radio amateur to boat-building, assures mutual benefits not only to themselves, but also to others. Although they have not yet realized their fullest possibilities, in their remaining two years at Alledale we may expect great things from them.

Hmm!! Mighty Interesting Course.

CLASS OF 1953

This can't be math.

This year's freshman class has been an outstanding group. Class comedians, clowns, scholars, and athletes help to make up our many queer noises coming from the science lab, he can be quite sure as to the whereabouts of our freshman class. However, when not letting off excess steam, we are dependable, hard working class. Our class was active in many school affairs, such as, the "Gondoliers", the Minstrel Show, scouting, and sports. Two of our members played on the varsity squads, while the remaining of us participated on the lower teams. In the future, we think that our freshman class will be a credit to Allendale.

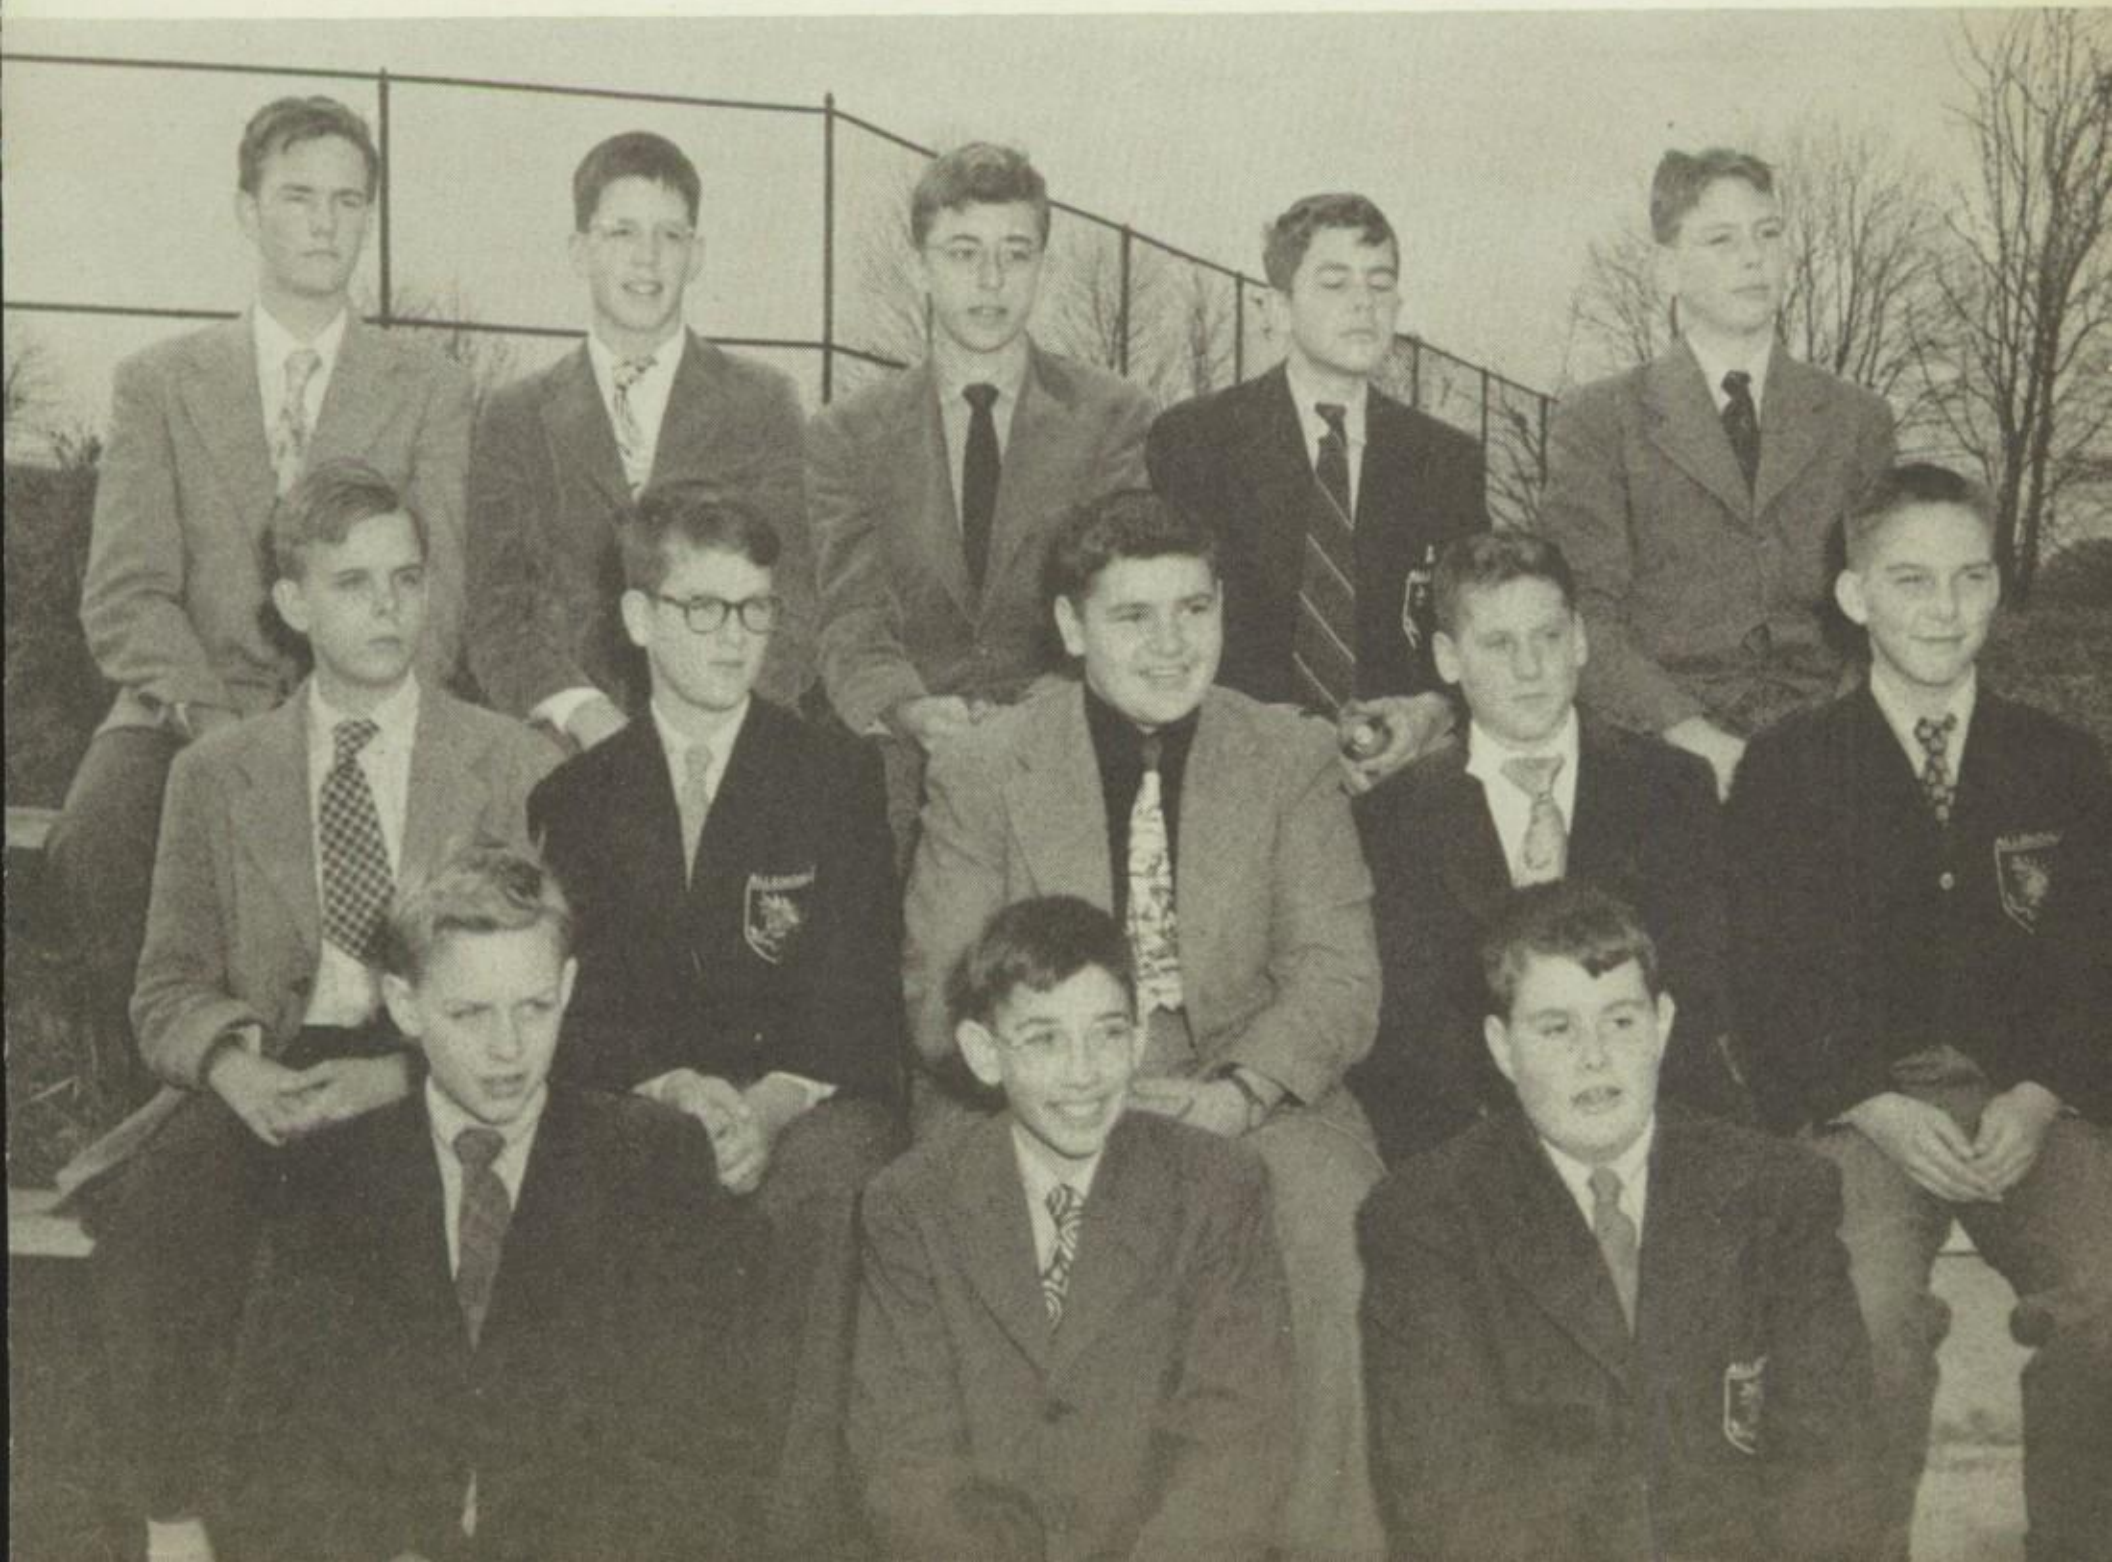

FORM II

This year, we have two additions to our enterprising class, raising the total to fourteen. The majority of the class takes five subjects. Everybody agrees that we have had an excellent program, and have accomplished much. In the Fall, we all played on the second football squad, and had quite a good season for ourselves. We inspected the George Eastman Photographic Museum and had a most interesting tour. Despite a disappointing basketball season we all worked hard and had a lot of fun. With a large squad we expect to do better in baseball. We think that our class has done a fine job throughout the 1949-50 season.

FORM I

Building a new school?

Allendale's seventh grade began with Cyril Fitch, Tony Faragher, Peter Geib, Elliott Cherne, Tony Phillips, and Jon Schumacher. Later in the year, Ernest Greppin and David DeLaCour became members.

Our class adviser, Mr. Milella, started a class organization. We held our first meeting the second week in January, electing Pete Geib as president, Tony Phillips as vice-president, Jon Schumacher, treasurer, and Cyril Fitch, secretary. Plans were made to visit the Bausch Museum of Arts and Sciences, and many other places of interest in and around Rochester. We also plan to give an assembly program sometime during the year.

The class has participated in all athletics, and has played a large part in school activities.

GRADES THREE THROUGH SIX

It is our sincere hope that these smiling faces will continue through Allendale with this same expression. Even though these boys have not yet reached the age where they must assume responsibility, they have participated in plays, in chapel and have helped, to some degree, Mrs. Broadbrooks with her younger pupils. Besides a set of twins, there are many future scholars and some varsity prospects (in a few years) in this group. Despite their mischievousness, they are loved by everyone around school. Ever smiling, thier slogan ought to be, "Laugh, and the world laughs with you."

FIRST AND SECOND GRADE

Under the superb leadership of Mrs. Broadbrooks, these children have had the chance to try their skill in various fields. They have done quite a bit of work in art and music, and they even gave a show in front of the whole student body. The first and second grades have given two parties, and they have taken several trips around Rochester. They do carpentry and cooking with equal facility. A pair of rabbits have been raised and have become very attached to the children. A word of congratulation must be given to Mrs. Broadbrooks on the fine job she has done in training and developing the characters of these boys.

The Student Council, this year, has attempted to be as influential, yet inconspicuous, as possible. They have not held weekly meetings, but have met only at Mr. Schwartz's request, or when there were problems to be discussed and acted upon. The students would then be informed of any decisions that had been reached. It is felt that this method of procedure has been very successful.

The council is composed of three seniors and two juniors, elected by the student body. The two junior members remain in office through their senior year, with one additional junior being elected at the conclusion of his junior year in order to maintain a senior majority. At this time two sophomores are elected to serve during their junior and senior years.

They have cooperated with Mr. Schwartz on all school functions. The council has had a student representative present at all important faculty meetings. The Christmas baskets were put up by the council. They have sponsored several dances throughout the year. Members of the council have supervised study hall and the library.

We believe that this small, but efficient, council has served its purpose to the students and teachers, and has helped infinitely to bring the teacher and student closer together.

THE STUDENT COUNCIL

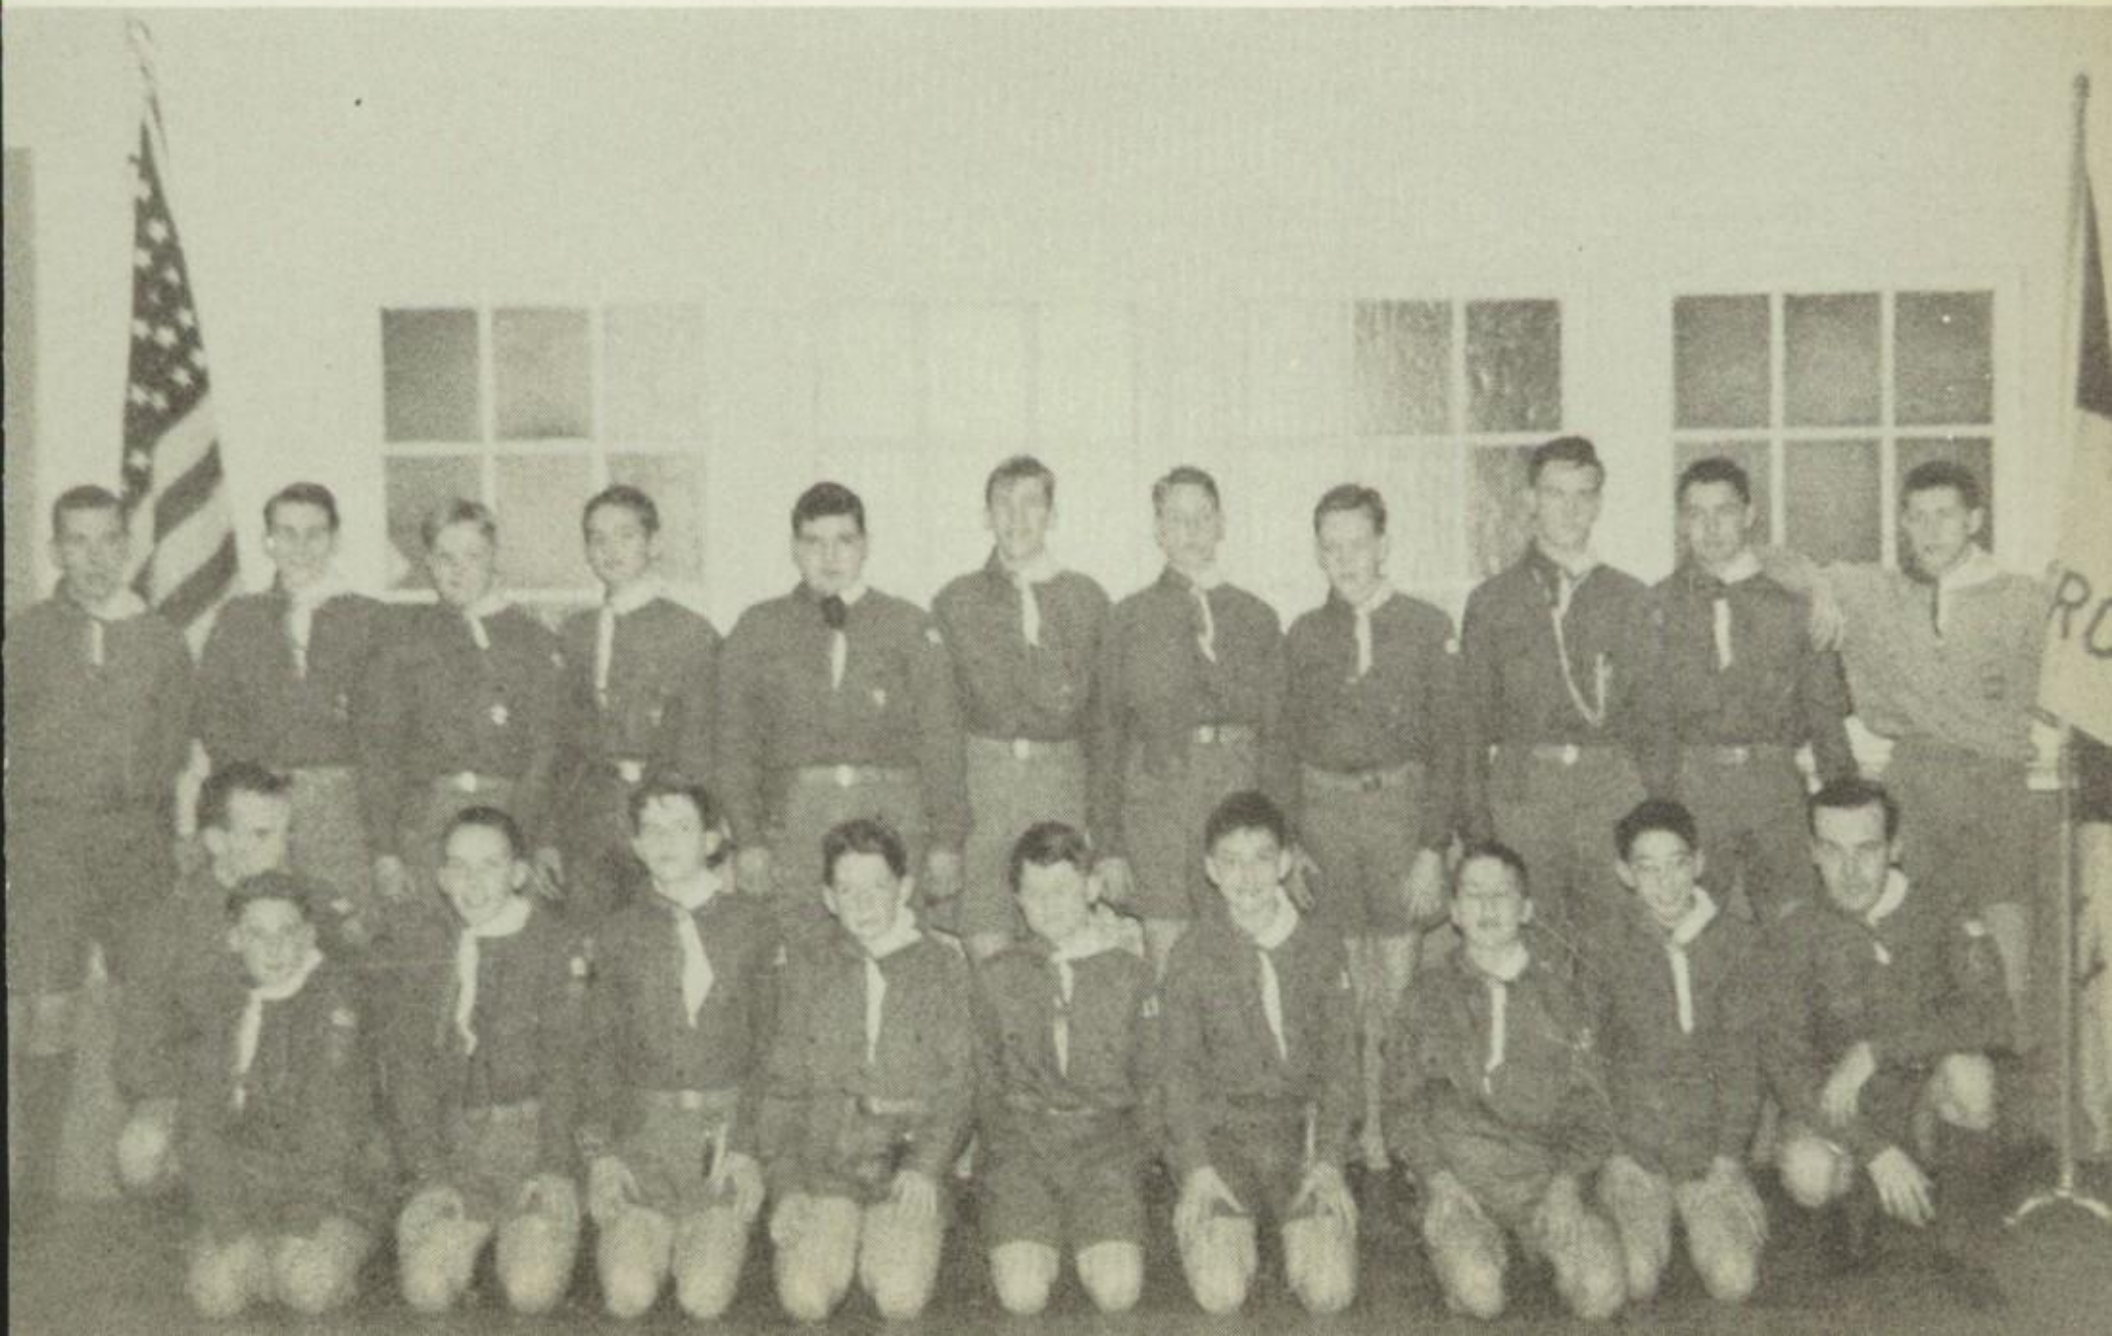

SCOUTS

The Allendale Scout troop gained much experience this year, through its many activities. The boys took several day hikes, and a few overnight hikes. They also participated in such projects as selling refreshments at athletic events to raise money to buy food for the poor at Thanksgiving, and acting as co-hosts to two Canadian Troops who visited Rochester. The troop has grown considerably under its new Scoutmaster, Rick Hoard, who succeeded Scoutmaster A. F. Smith, who is now a member of the Scout Committee. John Holbrook from Maine, a member of Allendale's faculty, is a new assistant Scoutmaster along with veteran Eby Hoard. There is also a new patrol called the Panthers which is under Rennie McQuilkin's able leadership. Troop 150 is considered, by rival scoutmasters, as potentially one of the best in the city.

The main object of this year's newspaper was to inform the parents, students and alumni and all those connected with the school of the activities at Allendale. Pictures of school life have been in each issue with a cartoon depicting the humorous events that occurred during the year. We have endeavored to make our paper more interesting by using appropriate titles and sub-titles. We feel that the paper is in good hands with George Kavanagh and Gordon Shedd as the editors next year, and we wish them good luck in the future.

ATIONS

The 1950

The 1950 edition of the CLAVUS differs from past model by the use of offset printing. This method enables us to produce the larger pictures and more variety in the set up of the pages. A change in the cover has been made, it being embossed instead of printed. By achieving an entirely different annual, we feel that this departure from past year-books will result in a more interesting CLAVUS and we hope it will equal the standard of quality set by past CLAVUS staffs.

DRA

This winter, Allendale and Columbia presented Gilbert and Sullivan's comic opera, THE GONDOLIERS. Directed by Miss Boddy and Mr. Hollenbach of Columbia, and Mr. Bell of Allendale, the play was a great success. Leading characters from Allendale were David Bilhorn, Craig Perkins, Terry Newell, Jody Green, and John Gipner; from Columbia were Helen Bilhorn, Joan Brownell, Caroline Fenyvessy, Lee Gratwick, and Mary Carson. This cast, along with a chorus from both schools, gave the audiences two nights of good entertainment.

As dramatic director of THE GONDOLIERS, Mr. Bell not only helped produce a good play, but he also showed many of the cast that they could act, and that acting can be fun. We do not infer that he has turned out a crop of Broadway possibilities, but we feel that some of the cast will and should continue their acting, and that Mr. Bell has given them a good background and beginning. We sincerely thank Mr. Bell for all he has done for dramatics at Allendale.

ATICS

Late in April, the third production of Allendale's Little Minstrels will open. The cast will include D. Beach as interlocutor, and R. Liky, W. Marsland, C. Shumway, H. Schumacher, J. Street and J. McGucken as end men. The chorus will be composed of Grades 5 and 6 and the first three forms. This production is under the excellent direction of Mr. Milella and we hope it will become a tradition at Allendale.

We feel that Mr. Milella has done much to promote dramatics at Allendale, especially in the lower grades. It was he that produced the first Minstrel Show two years ago, and last year he originated the Variety Show. This show is put on by Juniors and Seniors, consisting of a series of humorous skits with a thrilling melodrama to top off the show. This show will be produced again this year and promises to be bigger and better than last year's. We take off our hats to Mr. Milella for spending such much of his time and effort in producing these annual shows.

JUNIOR TOWN MEETING OF THE AIR

Perkins, Goodhand

Nichols, Kavanagh

WHEC's Junior Town Meeting of the Air came to Allendale this year with the question, "Should high school athletes be required to meet scholastic standards?" At the microphones to answer to the affirmative were John Nichols and George Kavanagh. Craig Perkins and Bob Goodhand answered in the negative. From WHEC as Master of Ceremonies was Mr. William Adams, and the Program Moderator was as usual, Dr. H. C. Seymour. After hearing the four debaters' views, members of the school came forward to ask questions, which stimulated much discussion.

FOOTBALL SCHEDULE

Allendale.....	20	Brighton "B"	0
Allendale.....	0	Nichols	26
Allendale.....	0	Geneseo	32
Allendale.....	2	Fairport	14
Allendale.....	0	Webster	14

As Mr. Elmer Burnham, football coach at the University of Rochester, so ably expressed at the Allendale football banquet, there is a far more important lesson to be learned on the gridiron than just winning. That all-important lesson is the ability to suffer defeat gracefully and with humility, a skill which without much doubt, was assimilated by the majority of the 1949 Allendale football team, and one which they will carry into later life.

All was not gloom, however, for Allendale opened the season with a decisive victory over Brighton "B", achieving this win without the services of quarterback Jim Williams who broke his leg in an earlier scrimmage with Brighton "A". Dying hopes of a victorious season were revived, but only momentarily, for injuries and hard luck mounted with every game until in the last game of the season, only five of the original varsity were able to play. The team deserves the highest credit for fighting every inch of the way, usually against overpowering odds.

Lost for next year's campaign will be the backfield of Jim Williams, John Nichols, Bob Goodhand and Bob Gulick, winner of the Touchdown Club award and Gordon Smith and Ted Hamilton. However, next year's line will make up for the lack of backfield experience, losing only two regulars, Bill Likly and Joe Logan, besides George Huther and Craig Perkins. We wish next year's eleven all the good luck we didn't have.

BASKETBALL

When the school reconvened in September, the athletic department looked very promising by the fact that few athletes had graduated. Coach Carl Andrews' hopes ran high for a victorious season. But as football wore on, he watched his prospective ball players go down one by one, until there was just a shell of the squad left to work with and mold into a winning team. He should be commended on the remarkable job he did in turning an inexperienced team, lacking in height, into a smoothworking well coordinated outfit by the season's end.

Probably the most spectacular event this year was when an inspired Allendale team came from 17 points behind in the closing minutes to conquer a strong Park team from Buffalo. Despite the relatively poor season, this contest is one of which the coach and team can be proud.

Graduation will see co-captains Nichols, who averaged 6.9 points a game, and Smith, who compiled a 5.1 average, Gulick, Wilson, Hamilton and Goodhand, who lead the team with 12.1 points per game, leave Allendale. Despite the depreciation in the ranks next year, Coach Andrews should have an admirable team.

As the yearbook goes to press, the prospects of the 1950 baseball season seems promising. All indications point toward one of Allendale's most successful season in years. With a seasoned infield of Bob Gulick, Gordon Smith, Jim Williams and John Nichols, all veterans of at least one year of action, plus a strong mound staff, we should find the inner portion of the diamond well set up. The potentialities of the outfield are as yet unknown, but many expected hopefuls should capably fill the gap in those wide open spaces.

This year Coach Smith hopes to dethrone Pebble Hill in The Conference of Upstate Private Schools and lead Allendale to the capture of their first crown in this league.

JOHN HOLBROOK Varsity Track Coach

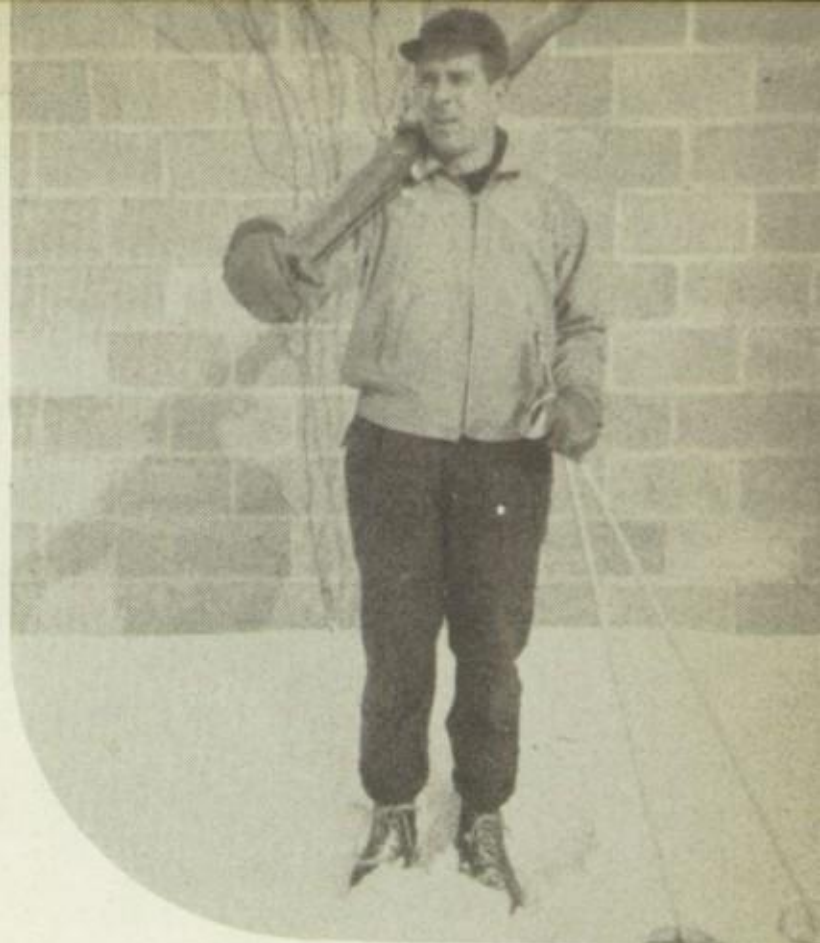

This year, the tennis squad has an addition to its activities. Track has been added to the athletics at Allendale. Boys who do not wish to play baseball are able to join this combination squad. Tennis is to be played two times a week and track the rest of the time. Two track meets are scheduled. One is a quadrangular meet involving Park, Nichols, De Veaux and Allendale and the other is a Cups League meet at Allendale. We are very fortunate to have Mr. Holbrook as track coach as he has had experience in this field in the past. The tennis players will probably have meets scheduled later in the spring, and we feel that these additions to competitive athletics at Allendale will prove successful.

TRACK AND TENNIS

SKIING

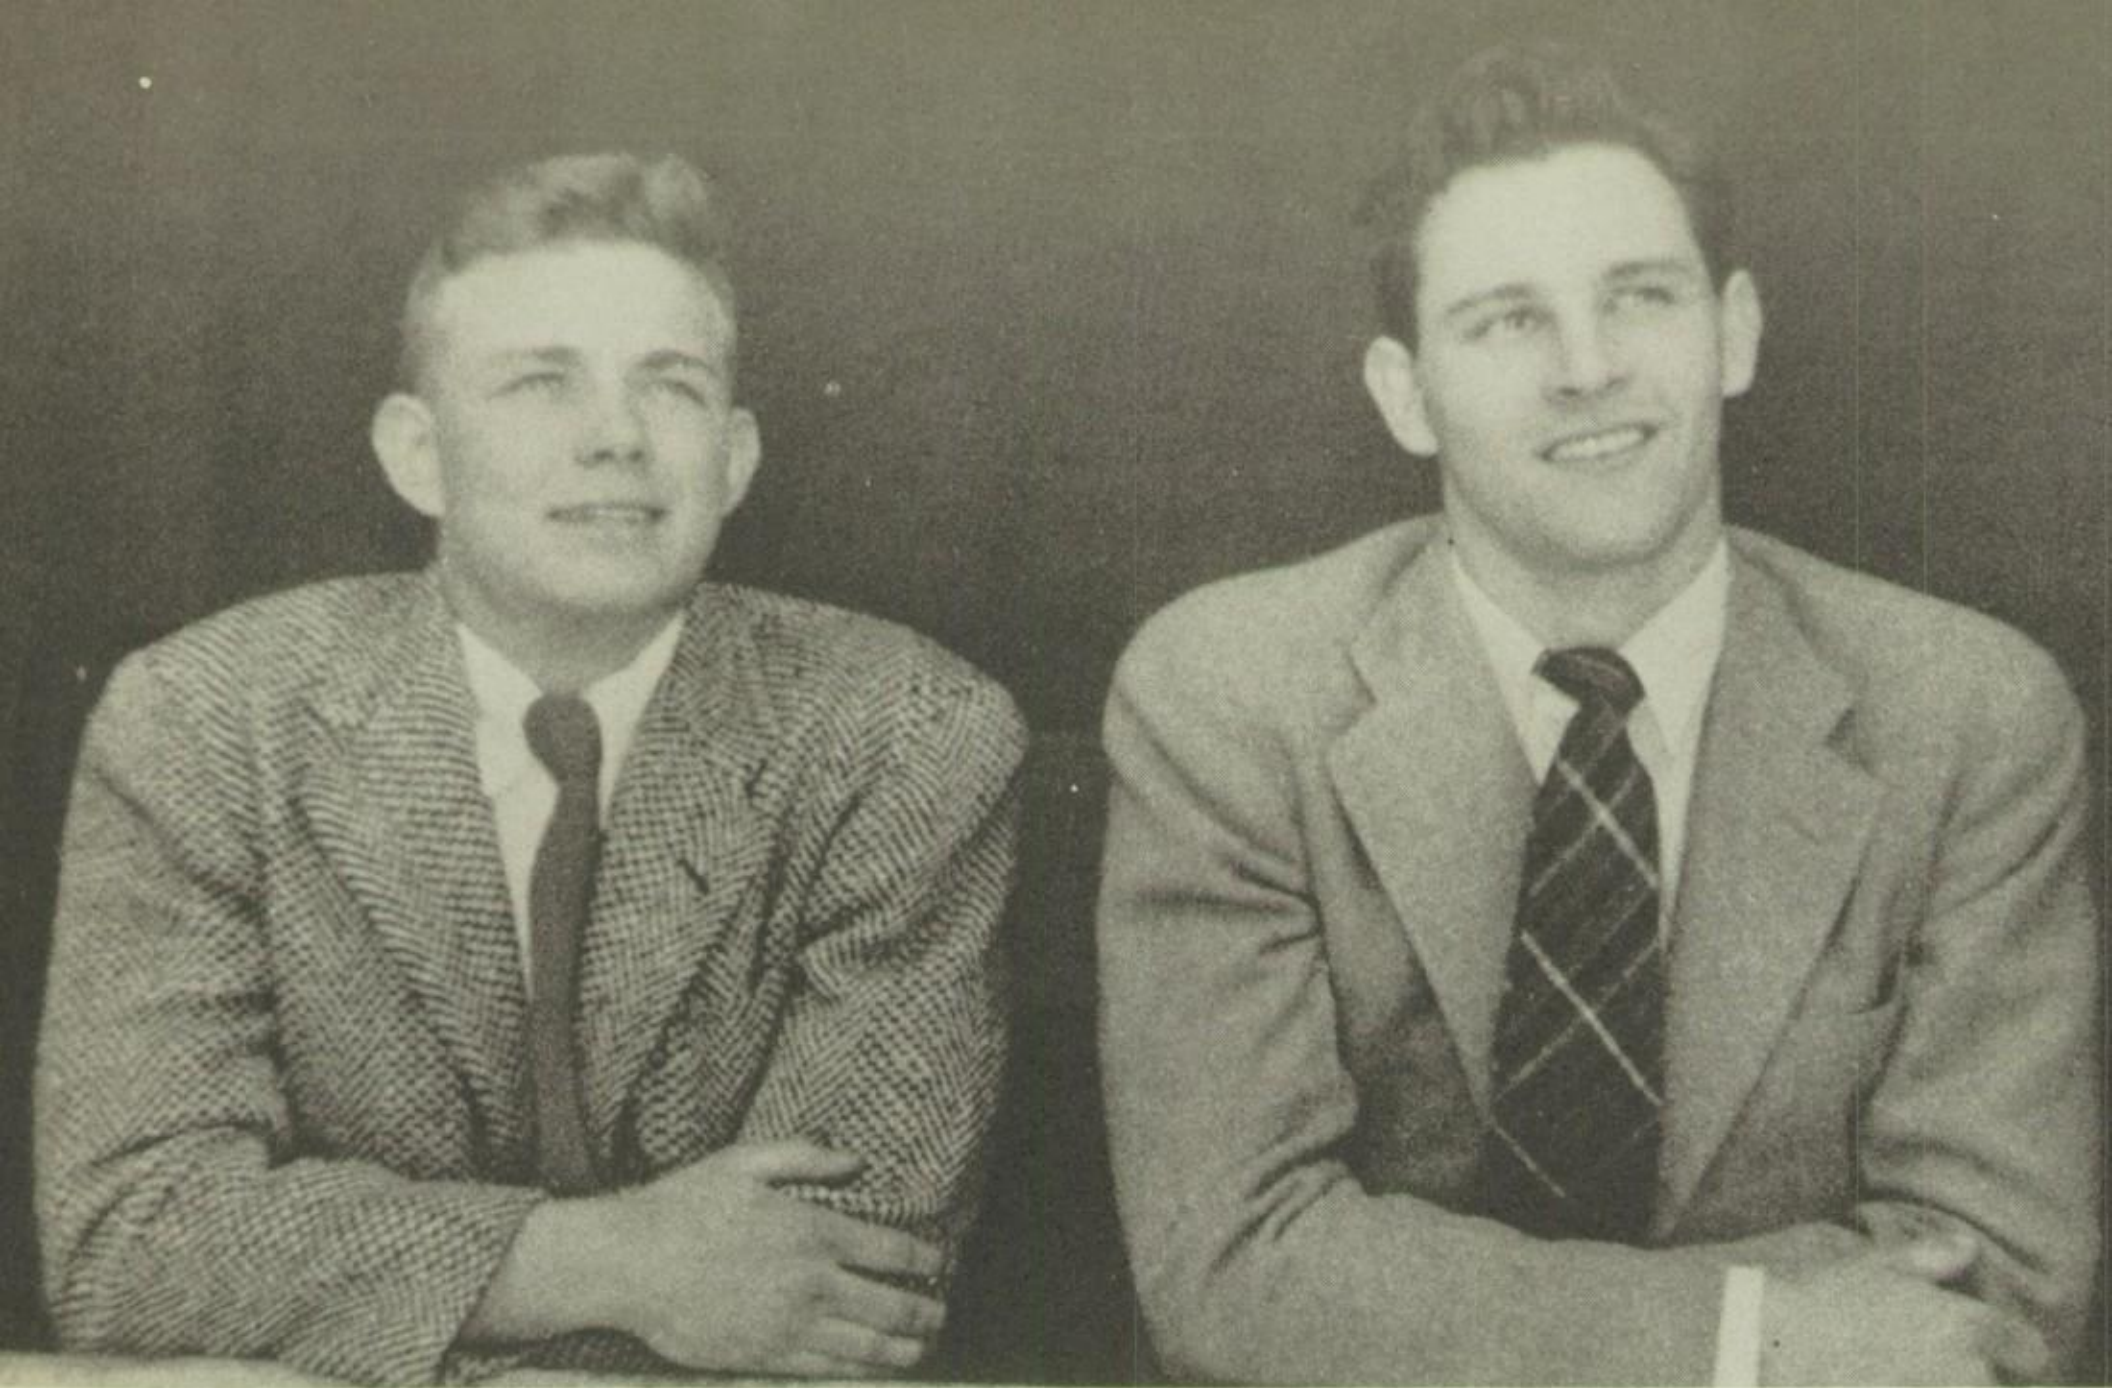

This year, as every year, those boys interested in skiing gathered on the sometimes snowy slopes of Oak Hill Golf Course to indulge in this sport under the expert instruction of Mr. J. L. G. Smith. The eager skiers were disappointed for most of the winter, but enjoyed the sport during the later part of the season. When not skiing the boys boxed and wrestled in the gymnasium. The squad did not have much skiing this winter, but we hope that next winter they will have more snow and better skiing.

THE MOHAWK AND APACHE CLUBS

Every Allendale boy is assigned to one of two intramural teams, the Mohawks or the Apaches, and remains on the same team as long as he is at Allendale. Football, basketball, and baseball games played at the end of each athletic season between the two teams determine the number of points each team has for the cup which is awarded to the winning team at the end of the year. This year's captains were John Nichols, four times captain of the Mohawks, and Jim Williams, three times captain of the Apaches. At present writing, that is at the end of the basketball season, the Mohawks are leading by a score of 59 to 30. As baseball will decide the outcome of this contest, may the best team win.
